

Show title: Us versus Them

This Episode: Is Donald Trump Fit to be President of the United States?

Pro arguments:

- Donald Trump is a billionaire businessman. He knows how to get things done. He is a deal-maker who can negotiate with anyone, including difficult foreign heads of state.
- Donald Trump has experience. He's been President of the United States before. He was the greatest president this country has ever had. Crime was down, illegal immigration was down, incomes were up, the economy was great, taxes were down.
- Donald Trump is all about the little guy. He feels your pain. He will fight for you. He'll fight against the big corporations, he'll fight against the professional politicians. Donald Trump is an outsider who will clear the swamp and make America great again.

Con arguments:

- Donald Trump is a convicted felon and fraudster. He cooked the books on his companies and on his own personal wealth to make it look like he's richer than he is and to cheat the banks who were lending him money. You cannot trust the guy.
- Donald Trump is under indictment for dozens more crimes which are even more serious than fraud. He attempted to subvert elections in numerous states. He sent an armed mob to the Capitol building to basically overthrow the government of the United States and to assassinate his own vice-president and the Speaker of the House of Representatives. He's lucky he hasn't yet been charged with treason.
- On top of all that, Donald Trump has also been found civilly liable for sexual assault and ordered to pay millions of dollars in restitution. He's been placed under gag orders to prevent him from threatening jurors and witnesses in cases against him. He is basically a mob boss.
